GUN ATTACK: NINE PEOPLE ARRESTED

Crime scene: The bakery where the shooting occurred

NINE people were arrested and bailed on suspicion of murder last week following the killing of an innocent father-of-two in an apparent bungled drive-by shooting in Wood Green.

Six of them – three men and three women – were arrested at Gatwick Airport, while three other men were arrested at an address in Hornsey.

Erdogan Guzel, 42, died when he was shot in the chest after a gunman pulled up outside Bros Bakery in Lordship Lane and started firing a machine gun indiscriminately during the evening rush hour on Friday, July 10.

A 51-year-old woman, another innocent bystander, was also injured and remains in a critical but stable condition in hospital.

Detectives from Homicide and Major Crime Command made the arrests four days after the shooting.

Those arrested at Gatwick on Tuesday on suspicion of murder and conspiracy to murder were three women, aged 20, 21 and 61, a 25-year-old man and two 16-year-old youths.

All were released on police bail on Wednesday until a date in the middle of September.

Three other men, aged 23, 26 and 55, were arrested in Hornsey on suspicion of murder and have also been bailed until mid-September.

Detective Chief Inspector Tim Duffield said: "The investigation is moving at a fast pace and while exact details of what happened remain to be established, what is clear is that two innocent bystanders have been caught up in a violent dispute between other people.

"I would like to take this opportunity to appeal to anyone who has information and has not yet come forward and spoken to the police to do so.

"I believe there are people out there who know who is responsible for this terrible crime and I appeal to them to consider how they would feel if their loved one was killed or seriously injured while going about their business.

"I would like to reassure anyone concerned about contacting the police that they will be treated with the utmost sensitivity and there are measures that can be taken to protect you."

Police are asking anyone with information to contact the incident room on 020 8358 0400 or, to remain anonymous, call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Council seizes laughing gas

HUNDREDS of potentially deadly "laughing gas" canisters were seized during the three-day Wireless Festival in Finsbury Park, the council has revealed.

The canisters contain nitrous oxide, a propellant gas used in the catering industry as well as being a painkiller.

It is illegal to sell them to anyone under the age of 18, if they intend to inhale it.

A number of people have died of asphyxia inhaling the legal high.

Haringey Council enforcement team and festival security staff confiscated 200 canisters as well as cracking down on ticket touts, unruly behaviour and unlicensed traders.

Fifteen touts face court action after 31 illegally-sold tickets were seized, some selling for £200.

Seven fixed penalty notices were issued for unlicensed street trading while 15 dispersal orders were issued by police banning people from returning to the park.

Tributes paid to ex-leader

TRIBUTES have been paid to a former leader of Haringey Council, George Meehan, who died aged 71 last week following a short illness.

In a political career spanning 40 years, Mr Meehan had three spells as leader of the Labour-controlled local authority and was a councillor representing Wood Green's Woodside ward at the time of his death.

The current leader Claire Kober said: "George was a man of firm principle and unflinching devotion to public service."

Slide away at Alexandra Palace

A HUGE inflatable water slide will appear at Alexandra Palace on Saturday, offering thrill seekers the chance to plunge 150metres down it for charity.

Ally Pally and its grounds will host Cancer Research UK's SlideRiver event from 11am to 6pm, placing the three-lane slide centre stage.

People can buy tickets to take a trip down it, raising money for the charity Kids and Teens campaign aiming to accelerate research into cures and treatments for children and young adults with cancer.

Clive Sanders, head of events at Cancer Research UK, said: "We hope people across the city will embrace this exhilarating new challenge and seize the opportunity to slip, slide and support life-saving research.

"We need as many people as possible to take part and join us in the fight to find more effective and kinder treatments for children's cancers."

The charity's research has helped improve the outlook for children with cancer in the UK. About three-quarters of under-15s with the disease are now cured, compared to only a quarter in the late 1960s, it says.

Participants must be 12 or older. People can register online at cruk.org/slideriver london or enter on the day. Entry costs £20 and includes two slides per person.

Osamor makes stand against government's welfare reforms

By Shafi Musaddique
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

THE Labour MP for Edmonton has voted against welfare reforms proposed by the Conservative government.

Kate Osamor joined nearly 50 other MPs from the opposition benches to form part of a surprise rebellion against the party stance of abstaining from the vote, a move put forward by acting Labour leader Harriet Harman.

Ms Osamor said proposed welfare reform to slash tax credits would take money out of the pockets of families in Edmonton.

She said: "We already have a child poverty rate of 42 per cent after housing costs are taken into account.

"Cutting tax credits will push more families below the poverty line."

Figures suggest Edmonton will be one of the areas to be hit hardest, with 72 per cent of families receiving tax credits.

A majority of MPs voted for a bill which will cut welfare by almost £13 billion, including a maximum limit on benefits amounting to £23,000 a year and a cap on child tax credits restricted to the first two children.

Operation targets unlicensed on-street car trading

DODGY car sellers have been made to pay for unlicensed street trading.

Vehicle hawkers have been warned of the consequences of street trading illegally after officers from Enfield Council seized a quarter of the vehicles advertised for sale by a single trader.

They carried out an operation in the borough on June 30 in Bulls Moor Lane and Hertford Road after complaints from residents, also placing warning notices on other vehicles advertised for sales.

Convicted street traders face a fine of up to £1,000, plus costs to cover the removal and storage of the seized vehicles.

Courts can also order the vehicles to be crushed.

Daniel Anderson, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "We are cracking down on illegal street trading.

"It is harming legitimate car traders and takes up residents' parking spaces, and there is also the threat posed by the sale of potentially unsafe vehicles.

"Although it can be difficult to track down the people responsible for this blight on our streets, our officers are determined to find those responsible and tackle the problem of illegal street trading."

TV star hands out school awards

FORMER star of TV comedies Benidorm and The League of Gentlemen Steve Pemberton helped present the awards at a school's annual prizegiving ceremony last week.

Year 7 to 10 students at Southgate School, in Sussex Way, were treated to a moving speech from the BAFTA award-winning actor, who was there as a inspirational guest speaker.

His speech about perseverance and self-belief inspired the pupils, staff and parents who attended.

The event celebrated the achievements of students, including academic and sporting successes as well as personal triumphs and outstanding contribution to school life.

Headteacher Martin Lavelle said: "It is wonderful to have an afternoon dedicated to celebrating our students many successes.

"We are so proud of all they have achieved and are delighted that their hard work and commitment has been recognised by this event.

"We hope that the event has inspired our students to keep up their hard work and focus on achieving their goals."

Students in good art

STUDENTS have had the chance to see their artwork on display at the Saatchi Gallery.

Some 300 pupils from seven schools in the borough took part in the Jack Petchey Start programme, which is designed to open young people's eyes to the world of art.

They spent the past academic year planning for the project, receiving expert guidance in how to design museum-scale pieces.

They took inspiration from the current exhibition at the world-renowned gallery, Pangaea II: New Art From Africa and Latin America. They also met artists, whose work was being exhibited.

The project has culminated in the creation of a series of films, which represent the work the students have done over the course of the project. A public screening of these took place at the Dugdale Theatre, in London Road, Enfield Town, on Saturday.

The founder of the foundation Jack Petchey said he was proud to invest in a programme which helps young people engage with the arts.

He added: "We have been delighted to hear how the programme has inspired young interest and talent. The opportunity to meet professional artists, hear how they have created their pieces and then have the space to create their own artwork for display on the same gallery walls must be truly inspiring."

Youngsters make merry with cupcake creations

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

BAKING and books, loaves and literacy are the themes running through a cafe in Enfield Town – and the twin themes have led primary school children to create cupcakes with a twist.

Pupils at Merryhills school, in Bincote Road, Enfield, came up with the designs after being inspired by their favourite book as well as the work of Urvashi Roe, in the Library Cafe, in Church Street.

All the children from Year 3 upwards took part in the a competition which was judged by Urvashi, who has pledged to bake the best three entries and sell them in her cafe over the summer holidays with all proceeds going to Action Against Hunger.

Both Urvashi and Nicole Gardiner, from the school, told the Advertiser how difficult it had been to judge the competition with every child creating delicious cupcake designs.

"Some of the designs were just wonderful," said Mrs Gardiner.

"I was really impressed by all the entries," agreed Urvashi, "and because we wanted to focus on healthy treats the winner was the entry that best incorporated that idea of healthy sweet treats with their book theme."

The winning entry, created by 10-year-old Michaela Georgopoulos, was inspired by The Very Hungry Caterpillar and her vision will see fruit encased in vanilla sponge, topped with green grapes, strawberry laces and lime fondant.

Equally mouth-watering was 10-year-old Cemal Egemen's Paddington Bear-inspired creation, which sees ginger sponge sandwiched together with marmalade and topped with blue icing and a red fondant hat, in homage to the Peruvian bear.

Healthy ideas: Urvashi Roe with the three winners, Mar-valisha McGhan, Cemal Egmen and Michaela Georgopoulos, from Merryhills Primary School

And eight-year-old Mar-valisha McGhan's creation featuring candy canes and cherries and inspired by Charlie and the Chocolate Factory is bound to prove popular when it goes on sale in the cafe over the summer holidays.

Explaining why getting the pupils to think about healthy treats is so important, Urvashi added: "It is like our philosophy in The Library Cafe, we source our ingredients locally, everything is made fresh every day and while we have our raspberry brownies on the counter, we wanted to stress to the children that balance is the key thing in all our diets."

The literary-themed cupcakes will be on sale throughout August and at the end of the holidays the three winners will get the chance to see whose cake raised the most money for the chosen charity.

HUNDREDS turned up to bask in scorching summer sun celebrating vehicles current and modern at the annual Sunday Best Scooterfest.

Enthusiasts converged on Capel Manor Gardens, in Bullsmoor Lane, Enfield, with many wearing their swinging 1960s' finery.

More than 350 scooters arrived from all over the country.

The proceedings also featured music from covers band HeavySol, live DJs and a raffle for a 1962 Lambretta scooter.

The festival was spearheaded by the Foresters Scooter Club, based in South Woodford, and had a charitable aim, money raised going to Help for Heroes and Great Ormond Street Hospital.

Club member Terry Neil said the festival "went terrifically well", adding that funds were raised on a regular basis on charity scooter rides.

Allotment is a plot of inspiration for author

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

“EVERY woman needs a shed,” is not a mantra that adorns many greetings cards – but for one keen gardener it is a motto she swears by.

Under the battery-powered chandelier in her palatial shed on her corner plot in the Palmers Green Allotments and perched on a cosy day bed, author Jeanne Willis reveals what drew her to the haven – beds of dahlias with flamboyant artichoke heads bobbing on their long stalks just behind them.

“You can be here all day, so no one knows where you are,” she explains, describing her sense of sanctuary in the midst of the fruit and veg.

“At home there’s always something you’ve got to be doing – like Hoovering, which isn’t exactly fun – but here I can just pretend I’m busy, or I can be busy, and that’s the beauty of it.”

The 55-year-old explains that often while watering and weeding inspiration for her next book can drop into her mind.

“When you’re not thinking about specific things and you’re gardening, ideas just seem to come,” she says.

And the secret to her success? “A shed,” is the firm reply.

“If you have a shed, you can have a teapot, a drinks cabinet – everything you want,” she says.

“It’s like a confessional in this shed. You would be amazed at the things I hear in here,” she adds, laughing.

While Jeanne battled illness six years ago, friends encouraged her to put her name down for an allotment “as something to look forward to”.

But taking over an abandoned plot, that had been used as a rubbish dump for all manner of allotment debris for years, threatened to overwhelm her.

“It was like an enchanted forest when I first saw it with brambles about three foot tall,” she recalls.

When you’re gardening, ideas just seem to come

Jeanne Willis

“I just looked at it and thought, ‘I am never going to clear that’ – and the minute we dug it up suddenly the weeds emerged and took over.

“But just as I was beginning to despair a really nice man with a digger drove up and although he wasn’t really supposed to he just drove his digger over and razed the lot to the ground.

“I think it would have defeated me if it hadn’t been for my knight in shining dump truck.”

Although her tomatoes are flourishing quietly and she was able to harvest a bumper crop of broad beans a few weeks ago, there is more to Jeanne’s produce than simply growing to eat.

“It’s like being a child,” she says of the feeling of wonder when harvesting crops or planting out seedlings.

“You’re digging for potatoes and you don’t know what you’re going to get. And you get more and more excited.

“Once my mum and sister were both here. My mum looked at me and my sister digging away in the mud and she said, ‘You remind me of land girls during the war’. It was like a sisterhood thing.

“There are so many things about this place that make it more than a garden or an allotment.”

Jeanne’s mother is no longer alive, but she lives on in the flower garden planted in her memory behind the shed.

“I’m not religious, but it really is quite spiritual here,” says Jeanne. “Although my dad never got to see it here, I feel closer to him here as well.”

While the shed is Jeanne’s suburban “sanctuary”, her husband and two grown-up children are allowed to experience the cosy tranquility.

“In September, we have bonfires,” she says. “My family come up and it is such a nice experience – in the dark – with a glass of wine. It’s lovely, it’s like being cowboys.”

And Jeanne’s tips for any aspiring allotment holders?

Opinion split as cycling plans are wheeled out

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS are divided over plans to transform a swathe of Green Lanes into a cycling haven.

The initial proposals on how Green Lanes could benefit from a share of the £30million that was awarded to the borough by the Mayor of London's office last year to boost cycling have been released for consultation and were shown to residents on Friday at a dedicated exhibition for the scheme in The Fox pub, at the corner of Fox Lane and Green Lanes.

The proposals show a new road layout from Roseneath Walk, in Enfield Town, to the North Circular Road, with partly segregated space for cyclists. The plans also show how cycle lanes will loop behind bus stops to avoid collisions between passengers and cyclists.

While on some parts Green Lanes parking is retained on one side of the road, one aspect of the plans likely to disturb retailers and residents will be the proposed removal of some parking spaces.

For example, on the stretch of road from Walnut Grove to Teynham Avenue, in Bush Hill Park, there is currently unrestricted kerb parking space.

Under the proposals, this will be replaced by six dedicated residential parking bays with officers noting on the plans that there is potential spare capacity for 33 vehicles in the sideroads.

Similarly, the kerb side parking options from Teynham Avenue to Church Street will be removed and the short-term parking bays will be reduced from four to three.

Some of the biggest changes could involve the

ANNIE MARIE SANDERSON

On show: The cycle lane plans were displayed for residents to look over at The Fox pub, in Palmers Green, last week junctions in the centre of both Palmers Green and Winchmore Hill.

Planners have drawn up two proposals to make the Palmers Green Triangle, where Aldermans Hill meets Green Lanes, safer for cyclists and motorists.

One version sees the triangle removed and replaced with a Dutch-style roundabout where motorists, cyclists and pedestrians are segregated. The second option proposes to keep the triangle, but with dedicated traffic signals for cyclists to allow them to move into turning position before cars, lorries and buses behind them.

Friends Marion Nock and Tina Maskell, both aged 63, are Palmers Green residents and are aghast at the prospect of losing the triangle.

"The triangle is a landmark," Marion told the Advertiser at Friday's exhibition. "We have to keep that because it is part of what makes Palmers Green what it is."

Tina added that the prospect of moving the bus stop from just south of the junction of Green Lanes and Fox Lane, which would be merged with the bus stop a few metres south, would be disastrous.

"That is a very well-used bus stop, what would disabled people, elderly people and those with children be expected to do if that is taken away?" she said.

However, not all those at the exhibition were as worried by the proposals.

David Hilliard, 45, who is on the committee of the Enfield Cycling Campaign, said that the ideas for transforming the borough into an example of good road infrastructure for cyclists were "fantastic".

"People might say there are not enough cyclists to justify this," he said, "but the whole premise is about getting people on their bikes and to get families, children and young people into cycling and the only way to do that is to make it safer."

"This whole project is about changing the image of cyclists so that it isn't about middle-aged men in Lycra – but about everybody just hopping on their bikes to take kids to nursery or to pick up a few things from the shops – and really if there are fewer cars and the roads are in good shape, what's bad about that?"

The consultation can be viewed online at <https://www.consultations.cycleenfield.co.uk/traffic-and-transportation/a105scheme/>

Enfield Green Party

SO once again the Osborne axe falls squarely on the poor, the disabled and anybody else unable to fight back – which seems to include the Labour Party, though in their case it's unwilling rather than unable.

His claim about the budget being "for the poor" was rapidly exposed by the Institute for Fiscal Studies – the poor lose far more from the loss of tax credits and child benefits than they gain from the rise in the minimum wage and adjustments to income tax bands. It's a budget for the rich, like all his others.

George Osborne has also revealed himself as not merely un-Green, but positively anti-Green.

What else can one make of his decision to make renewables subject to the carbon tax?

Renewables, by definition, are carbon-free and the whole point of the tax was to stimulate their growth.

This is sheer vindictiveness, as well as being totally bonkers.

Meanwhile, the other current target for Tory malevolence is poor old Reynard, although the SNP have saved him from the hounds for now. If David Cameron had been proposing to allow a helpless creature to be torn to pieces by a pack of dogs in an enclosed city space, the public would rightly rise in wrath.

What's so different if it happens in the countryside? Fortunately, even legislative trickery couldn't make the numbers in the Commons add up, so Cameron gets his first taste of humiliation, but surely not his last, given his plans for the nasty party.

Time to offer a real living wage

THE Chancellor has announced a higher minimum wage for over-25s from next year, but he has confused everybody by calling it a living wage.

The idea of a living wage goes back centuries – in 1776, Adam Smith said everyone who worked should be "tolerably well-fed, clothed and lodged".

In London you need to earn £9.15 per hour for that basic standard of life, as calculated by City Hall. The London Living Wage is much higher than the new minimum wage the Chancellor announced for over-25s.

As the Mayor of London has championed the living wage in London, I want him to join me in calling for a genuine living wage for all Londoners. The minimum wage should be raised to £9.15 per hour, so everyone can build a life on their day's work.

What about local justice?

I NOTED last week that the Ministry of Justice has earmarked the Tottenham Magistrates' Court, in Lordship Lane, (and many others) for closure.

As this court is the only court for Enfield and Haringey and the building is owned (as I understand) by Enfield Council, the questions that need to be asked are, what happens to the concept of local justice – I cannot think of a court "locally", Waltham Forest court is also earmarked and Highgate has long gone – and what is to be done with the building?

I hope our council has raised the above matters.

Patient difficulties are highlighted by report

At the sharp end: Some patients have had problems booking blood tests by phone

By Lucy Purdy

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

FROM difficulties in booking blood tests, to safety fears on a mental health ward, a new report documents the challenges faced by Enfield patients.

Healthwatch Enfield – the independent watchdog for health and social care in the borough – has just released its annual report, including successes the body has achieved over the past 12 months.

After a patient expressed concern that appointment letters from the Royal Free Hospital, in Hampstead, contained insufficient information, Healthwatch representatives were able to help re-word the letters, improving them.

Other residents experienced difficulties booking blood tests by phone via North Middlesex University Hospital, in Sterling Way, Edmonton.

The body raised it with the hospital and at a health scrutiny meeting, after which they say the number of concerns raised on the subject "fell away sharply".

When a patient in a mental health ward at Edgware Hospital reported feeling a lack of privacy and safety there, concerns were raised with Barnet, Enfield and Haringey Mental Health Trust and improvements were made.

Letters about breast screening appointments that were in too small a print were redesigned, and interpreter provision for deaf patients was also stepped up after Healthwatch Enfield intervened.

Joe Lee, communications and events officer at Healthwatch Enfield, said: "We are delighted with the progress we have made ensuring issues people tell us about are addressed by health and social care providers."

"We hope people continue to contact us with their feedback on services in the borough. Together we can make people's views count."

Digging up the past – with amazing results

By Shafi Mussadique

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

ARCHAEOLOGISTS digging at Forty Hall have discovered a rare window pane dating back hundreds of years.

Members of the Enfield Archaeology Society made the surprise discovery of a triangular pane dating back to the Tudor era, found at the Forty Hall Estate, in Forty Hill, Enfield, during Sunday's Exploring Elysing dig. Elysing was a palace belonging to Henry VIII, which once adjoined the current estate.

Society surveyor John Pinchbeck, who is credited with finding the historic artefact, described it as a "really exciting moment", adding: "The piece became bigger and bigger until it grew into a triangle".

The preserved window pane was found with an original lead "came" (panel), making it an exceptionally rare item. It is now due for examinations to test whether the glass is painted before being found a permanent home in Enfield Museum.

Field research director Martin Dearn said the find is of national significance, having survived the demolition process used for lead. He described the moments before realising what the pane looked like as "painstaking".

He said: "The process of finding and removing the pane from the ground took over 20 minutes. But as soon as it was in full view, a whoop of delight went up".

The initial objective of the dig was to excavate and measure a garderobe chute, a trench known to be part of a Tudor toilet connected to a nearby mote.

The excavations concluded the week-long Festival of Archaeology, held in conjunction with Enfield Council.

Counterfeit goods seized in trading standards raids

Taken away: More than 170 items were seized during the operation in Edmonton

FAKE sunglasses, bags and pieces of jewellery were seized by Enfield Council trading standards officers during a sting in Edmonton.

A total of 177 items was taken in the operation on July 9. The confiscated goods included counterfeit Louis Vuitton handbags and Ray-Ban sunglasses.

The council is considering whether to prosecute the traders responsible.

Cabinet member for the environment Daniel Anderson said: "The sale of fake goods will not be tolerated. It is more than just about charging designer prices for sub-standard products, which damages the reputation of brand holders and affects profits.

"These items are unlikely to have had the rigorous testing expected of such products and so could be detrimental to the health of residents. Our officers will continue to seek out illegal items. Counterfeiters should be under no illusions – we will drive them out of the borough."

Cars damaged in pallet yard blaze

Smoking: The scene of the fire in East Duck Lees Lane, Ponders End

TEN fire engines and more than 70 firefighters were called to a huge blaze at a pallet yard in Ponders End yesterday morning.

A giant plume of smoke could be seen as far away as Canary Wharf as fire crews from Edmonton and Enfield, as well as Chingford, Dagenham, Holloway, Stoke Newington, Tottenham and Woodford, battled the blaze in East Duck Lees Lane from 10am.

The fire damaged 25 vehicles and was under control by 2pm.

Firefighters remained at the scene, damping down the site, which contained a large number of wooden pallets. They also had to cool down a set of gas cylinders.

A London Fire Brigade spokesman said: "There was a lot of thick black smoke in the area, so in the early stages we asked residents to close their doors and windows.

"About 25 people were evacuated and thankfully there were no injuries".

The cause of the fire is being investigated.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Richard Power feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Enfield, Edmonton, Palmers Green, Winchmore Hill & Southgate areas and Richard is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Richard a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Everybody needs good neighbours

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A CHARITY is calling on people to reach out to their elderly neighbours and friends in a bid to stave off loneliness.

Age UK Enfield, based in Vincent House, in Nags Head Road, Ponders End, has launched the latest bid to curb loneliness among older people in the borough and has issued a rallying cry to people to join the charity's befriending service.

"There are people here in Enfield who are lonely, isolated, who don't have any contact with anybody," Daniela Sanna, customer services and volunteer officer for Age UK Enfield, told the Advertiser.

"Maybe a carer comes in once a day to wash them and help them get dressed – but there is no one they can just sit and talk to.

"So one of our volunteers can go into their homes and talk to them, maybe play a game of cards with them – but the most important thing they can do, the thing that really makes a lonely isolated person feel better, is to be listened to and talked to.

"That small thing can improve people's lives enormously."

According to Age UK Enfield, 49 per cent of people over the age of 75 live alone, often with only their televisions for company.

Allan Bassett, outreach services manager for Age UK Enfield, has revealed that this level of isolation can lead to "depression, self-neglect and a feeling of exclusion as a result of loneliness".

Mr Bassett is championing the work of individuals such as Amy Bridgeman, who volunteers to help people, including 103-year-old Irene Osbourne, feel connected with the community.

"The service brings a friendly listening ear and much needed companionship," he added.

Anyone interested in spending one or two hours weekly or fortnightly with a lonely older person can contact Mr Bassett on 020 8375 4120 or email CustomerServices@ageukenfield.org.All the news and more...Visit our website at www.enfield-today.co.uk

Alcohol free: The supermarket has had its licence withdrawn by Enfield Council

Store's booze ban is upheld in court

A DISTRICT judge has refused to overturn Enfield Council's decision to revoke a supermarket's alcohol licence.

The licence for Asya Wine Centre, in Hertford Road, Freezywater, was withdrawn after an employee sold non-duty-paid cigarettes to a council officer. He was taking part in a test purchase exercise in August last year following reports that illicit cigarettes were being sold at the premises.

A week later, Famous Grouse whisky on which UK duty had not been paid was discovered at the shop.

The council's licensing sub-committee revoked the licence at a meeting on February 11 and that decision was upheld last Wednesday by a district judge at Highbury Magistrates' Court.

Uygar Altun, the holder of the licence, was prosecuted in 2009 for selling counterfeit vodka which contained dangerous levels of methanol.

In 2012, three bottles of counterfeit Bollinger, 1,000 non-duty-paid cigarettes, 100 grammes of hand-rolling tobacco and 54 bottles of non-duty-paid spirits were discovered.

Cabinet member for environment Daniel Anderson said: "The sale of counterfeit or illicit tobacco and alcohol is a serious offence and we will not sit idly by and allow traders to engage in illegal activity."

"For as well as giving an unfair advantage over legitimate businesses, they endanger the health of our residents."

The council was also granted costs of £4,928.50 by the judge.

Three more premises are currently appealing against the revocation of their alcohol licences. They are allowed to sell alcohol until a final court ruling is made.

Turned out nice again: Martin and a class member in action

An invitation to come dancing

It's strictly business as class offers lessons in a wide range of styles to the over-50s

By Shafi Mussadique
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A DANCE course for the over-50s is proving quite a draw.

Instructor Martin Gould took dancers through a variety of styles – from tango to ballroom – in the surroundings of Millfield House, in Silver Street, Edmonton.

The 13-week, council-run programme is giving people the chance to put on their dance shoes and have some fleet-footed fun.

As well as the over-50s, sessions are aimed at recovering patients and those who find it difficult to gain access to regular exercise classes.

Martin, 56, embraced dance later in life and believes it can build confidence, especially for those reluctant to take on exercise. He regularly leads classes on Thursday nights in St Michael's Church, in Gordon Hill, Enfield.

If you wish to find out more about Martin's dance lessons, call 07930 327556.

Light on their feet: Martin helps a student with the whisk and chassiss move in the waltz

Work set to start on wetlands scheme

Environmental benefits: The wetlands project is set to transform Firs Farm Playing Fields in Palmers Green

Almost £800,000 will be spent on Firs Farm improvements

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A NEW £792,000 wetlands project and cycle path in Firs Farm Playing Fields, in Palmers Green, is set to take shape.

Supporters say the wetlands will help prevent flooding, reduce pollution and encourage wildlife. Construction work is due to begin shortly.

A new cycle path will, it is hoped, both encourage cycling and make it easier to reach Firs Farm, in Firs Lane, by bike.

The wetlands project, which is being funded by Enfield Council, Thames Water, the Environment Agency and the Greater London Authority, will see the creation of a major new habitat capable of storing up to 30,000 cubic metres of flood water.

Daniel Anderson, the council's cabinet member for environment, said: "The environmental benefits of this project are significant.

"Not only will these beautiful wetlands provide protection against flooding in the local area, but as the water quality improves we will also be creating a space which the community can enjoy, while wildlife will flourish."

Mr Anderson is hoping that the project will reduce the risk of flooding to more than 100 nearby homes and parts of the A10 Great Cambridge Road.

New "native plants" will also be added. The project has been the subject of a public consultation exercise and has the backing of the Friends of Firs Farm.

Funding of £175,000 was secured through the Mayor of London's Big Green Fund.

Of seven projects that were shortlisted, Firs Farm received the most votes and was one of only two sites to receive the maximum grant.

Just AskSARA for advice about disability services

A FREE online service has been launched designed to help older and disabled people in Enfield to lead independent lives.

Called AskSARA, the Enfield Council initiative offers users tips aimed at helping them improve their quality of life.

The service aims to make it easier to carry out everyday tasks, such as cooking, bathing, taking medication and cleaning.

Alev Cazimoglu, Enfield Council's cabinet member for health and adult social care, said: "People want to live independently in their own homes and AskSARA is a brilliant way of helping them do precisely that by identifying their needs and then suggesting ways of meeting those needs."

The service covers more than 70 topics, grouped under broad headings such as health, homes and children.

Typical users of the service are expected to include family members and carers who want to improve their loved ones' lives and help them to live independently.

Housing scheme signals new era of regeneration

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

In loving memory: Norman Prowse, 94, husband of the late Kathy Prowse, the councillor who got the ball rolling on the project many years ago, with their daughter, Monica Blackman

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

EDMONTON'S skyline gained an eye-catching new landmark last week with the official opening of a development providing 118 new homes.

The distinctive, wedge-shaped, eight-storey building facing on to Fore Street is a major housing regeneration scheme, rising like a phoenix from the ashes of the now-demolished former council-owned Highmead Estate.

Prowse Court is a mix of private and affordable social housing comprising 22 terraced houses at the back of the block, with 25 flats for intermediate rent and 71 flats for private sale as well as a purpose-built medical clinic, a community hall and commercial spaces for businesses.

The development, built by Countryside Properties and Newlon Housing Trust in conjunction with Enfield Council, is aimed at kick-starting wider investment and regeneration in Angel, Edmonton.

Among those attending the official opening ceremony last weekend were the family of the late Kathy Prowse, who served as an Enfield councillor for 24 years and in whose memory the building is named.

A new access road to the terraced homes called Lord Graham Mews honours Labour peer and former MP Lord Graham of Edmonton.

Ahmet Oykener, the council's cabinet member for housing and estate regeneration, performed the opening ceremony and met some of the first families to move into the affordable family housing.

He said: "This is a superbly designed development which will be a catalyst for the regeneration of this part of Edmonton."

"The partnership between Countryside, Newlon and the council has been a positive approach to build more homes and important amenities in this neighbourhood."

Sarah Ebanja, chairman of Newlon Housing Trust, said: "I am really excited that through working in partnership with the council and Countryside, we have been able to deliver such an attractive new development with so many additional community facilities."

"I am confident that it will be a great place to live and will contribute hugely to the ongoing regeneration of the area."

UK CYPRIOTS AND BRITISH PARLIAMENTARIANS RALLY IN SUPPORT OF CYPRUS

- British Cypriots, supporters and politicians from across the UK's political spectrum reiterated their support for a reunited Cyprus. This was both at a meeting held in the House of Commons on 7th July and at the annual Rally for Cyprus on Sunday 5th July held in a show of solidarity against Turkey's intransigence over efforts to end Turkey's 41 years' illegal military occupation of the northern part of Cyprus. These events were organised by the National Federation of Cypriots in the UK.
- The meeting in the House of Commons was preceded by a picket in support of the Organisation of Families of Missing Cypriots UK.
- The Rally was preceded by a letter of protest to the Turkish Ambassador in London, delivered by the President, Christos Karaolis and Officers of the National Federation.
- A petition was also delivered to 10 Downing Street, in which the National Federation's President, Christos Karaolis calls upon Prime Minister David Cameron to apply leverage on Turkey to withdraw its occupying troops and to play an active and positive role in the current efforts to reunite Cyprus for the benefit of all Cypriots.
- At Trafalgar Square, Christos Karaolis added "The tragedy of Cyprus is compounded because the will of the United Nations has been defied with complete impunity by successive Turkish governments for 41 years (meaning) the failure of the international community to hold Turkey to account... Today we remind the world of the utter injustice of the continuing division of Cyprus, the disgrace of a divided capital - Nicosia - in a united Europe..."
- The key speaker from the Republic of Cyprus was the Minister of Agriculture, Natural Resources & the Environment, Nicos Kouyialis. The Minister said that "We Cypriots, refugees or not, are the only Europeans today who do not enjoy basic human rights in our own country because of the continuing Turkish military occupation. I would like to state that with the assumption of the leadership of the Turkish Cypriot community by Mr. Mustapha Akinci and the President of Cyprus, Nicos Anastasiades, "we have entered a new phase in which the prospects for an agreement for the solution of the Cyprus problem seem favourable".
- Amongst those demonstrating their solidarity with the Cyprus cause at the Rally and in Parliament were Theresa Villiers Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, MPs Sir Alan Meale, Sir Roger Gale, Mike Freer, David Burrowes, Kate Osamor, Joan Ryan, David Crausby, MEPs Mary Honeyball & Charles Tannock, Lord Toby Harris, former MPs Andrew Dismore and Ian Twinn.
- The Cyprus High Commissioner H.E. Eurpides Evrivades, represented the Cyprus High Commission and Ambassador Konstantinos Bikas represented Greece.
- The Mayor of occupied Kyrenia, Glafkos Kariolo, spoke on behalf of the illegally occupied municipalities in Cyprus.
- The President of the National Federation thanked the community for the strong turnout at the July events and community member Nikos Savvides for his part in the Rally in stirring all those present with impromptu music.

Simon says...beware of the big bad wolf!

Boyband star prepares to sink his fangs into tasty role

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

WHO'S afraid of the big bad wolf? Not Simon Webbe, of boyband Blue, who takes on the role of the wicked beast in a new family musical based on the classic children's fairytale The Three Little Pigs.

The 37-year-old appears in The 3 Little Pigs, the latest offering from award-winning musical theatre song-writing duo George Stiles and Anthony Drewe, which begins a three-day run at artsdepot, in North Finchley, from Friday before moving to the West End stage.

He's joined by a cast of four other actors and actresses, each of whom has appeared in top West End musicals.

The twist in this adaptation of the famous fairytale is that our three little porkers find themselves world-renowned celebrity superstars after being forced to leave the warmth of their mother's overcrowded sty.

Will they cope without their adoring mother's "hugs and kisses"? Will their DIY skills cut the mustard? And can they "by the hairs on their chinny chin chins" outwit the Big Bad Wolf, who is determined to rob them of their fame and fortune by "huffing and puffing" and blowing their luxury pads and lifestyles away.

Composer George said: "Most children will know the story of The Three Little Pigs, so our job has been to reinvent it in a theatrical way, with hummable, memorable songs that will appeal to the whole family.

"Our little pigs – Bar, who loves to exercise, Bee who is green to the core, and Q, the insatiable bookworm – learn to work together as a team to defeat the Big Bad (but possibly misunderstood) Wolf," he added.

Writer and lyricist Anthony explains: "We love surprising and bewitching our younger audiences, some of whom will be visiting the theatre for the first time.

"We take it as a great responsibility to encourage and nurture audiences of the future, so we try to ensure their first experience of a musical is a memorable one."

The show is just 45 minutes long and is ideal for children aged from three years upwards, according to the publicity blurb, which also warns, tongue-in-cheek "may not be suitable for vegetarians".

Performances are at 11am and 2pm and artsdepot is in Nether Street. The box office is on 020 8369 5454.

Amy's head girl in Pixar gem

INSIDE OUT (U, 102 mins)

DESPITE gargantuan advances in medical science, we still don't fully understand the complexities of the human brain: its ability to process vast quantities of information, solve problems and store memories at speeds that put supercomputers to shame.

Pixar Animation Studios, the wizards who conjured the Toy Story trilogy, contemplate the vagaries of neuropsychology with this visually stunning and emotionally rich comedy, which unfolds predominantly inside the head of a little girl.

This high-brow concept doesn't seem like the most accessible subject matter for a family-oriented computer animation.

But directors Pete Docter and Ronaldo Del Carmen elegantly tilt their film at the windmills of the mind and deliver a hilarious, heartfelt and ultimately life-affirming adventure that celebrates childhood innocence, family unity and the power of the human spirit to overcome adversity.

Laughter and tears abound, as well as cute visual gags, ensuring parents will be repeatedly dabbing their eyes while children whoop and gurggle with glee at the slapstick and rollicking action sequences.

A mother (voiced by Diane Lane) and father (Kyle MacLachlan) welcome a baby girl called Riley (Kaitlyn Dias) into the world.

From the moment she opens her eyes, Riley's mood is shaped by five coloured emotions – golden Joy (Amy Poehler), blue Sadness (Phyllis Smith), purple Fear (Bill Hader), red Anger (Lewis Black) and green Disgust (Mindy Kaling) – which bicker behind a large control desk.

Joy is the dominant emotion in Headquarters and she safeguards Riley's memories, which are stored as glowing orbs, tinged with the colour of the emotion that prevailed at the time.

When Riley turns 11, her parents relocate from Minnesota to San Francisco.

Traumatic events such as a first day at a new school nudge Sadness to the fore.

Following an altercation, sworn rivals Joy and Sadness are expelled from Headquarters and find themselves stranded in the labyrinth of Riley's long-term memories.

Aided by Riley's imaginary friend Bing Bong (Richard Kind), Joy and Sadness blaze a haphazard trail on the chugging train of thought back to Fear, Anger and Disgust, who have been left in charge of Headquarters, with disastrous consequences.

Inside Out is Pixar's best film since the holy trilogy of WALL-E, Up and Toy Story 3.

The screenplay glitters with imagination, wit and invention, delivering guffaws with detours into the heads of Riley's parents as they attempt to deal with her pre-teenage rebellion.

Vocal performances are note perfect, led by Poehler's exuberant portrayal of Joy and Smith's sincere embodiment of Sadness as the film reaches its exquisite conclusion.

CALA Homes' Millbrook Park development is now open

Up market housebuilder CALA Homes has officially launched its flagship Millbrook Park development in Mill Hill, with the opening of the new marketing suite and two brand new professionally designed show apartments on site.

CALA is building a selection of one and two bedroom apartments and three and four bedroom houses on the development which is set to become one of the most sought-after addresses in North London. Chris Roads, sales and marketing director for CALA Homes North Homes Counties said: "We're delighted to have opened our stunning new show apartments at Millbrook Park which demonstrate the light and space available in a CALA apartment."

"We've been selling successfully off plan so far, but with the show apartments now open we're expecting a great deal of interest in these fabulous new homes. So if you're a first time buyer looking for the perfect pad, an investor looking for an opportunity or a family searching for the ideal address, come and talk to us."

The first phase of apartments are located in Arrandene House and range from 538 sq. ft. to 1733 sq. ft. and feature light, spacious and stylish interiors. Prices range between £339,950 and £699,950. The open plan kitchen and living area has a German kitchen with Silestone work surfaces, integrated appliances and an electric induction hob. The spacious bedrooms also feature built-in wardrobes and there is a separate bathroom with Villeroy and Boch sanitary ware. The two bedroom apartments have an en suite bathroom to the master bedroom and balcony or private garden off the living area. Also now on release are two four bedroom terraced townhouses with space over three storeys. Prices start at £1,095,000.

Located in the heart of the Mill Hill conservation area, Millbrook Park is set to be a thriving, sustainable community of high quality apartments and homes in a landscaped parkland setting. It will feature a range of community facilities including a new primary school, and almost six hectares of parks and open space, with far reaching views across North London. Once known as Inglis Barracks, the former Officers Mess building has been sensitively restored and the Officers' Mess Gardens has been completed and now open for use.

Access to Central London couldn't be easier, with the Northern Line at Mill Hill East underground station a short walk away reaching Camden in around 20 minutes, Euston in 23 minutes and Islington in 32 minutes. By car, the A1, A406 and M1 are also close by, with the M25 just over seven miles away.

Millbrook Park Church of England Primary School on the development opened in September 2014. There are also other good state primary schools in the area including St Vincent's RC Primary, Frith Manor Primary and Mill Hill County High. Grimsdell Mill Hill Preparatory School, Belmont Preparatory School, Mill Hill School and The Mount School are all within two miles.

Mill Hill Broadway is just two miles away with a wide choice of shops and cafes or for the more avid shopper, Brent Cross with its 120 high street stores is only four miles away. There is plenty for the active to do close by with Virgin Active Health Club, Finchley Golf Club, The London Equestrian Centre and Mill Hill Country Park.

We'll give you the best of both worlds...every week, all week!

In this rapidly moving technological age people are finding new ways to advertise, especially online via the internet. But contrary to what online sites are saying and common assumptions, print advertising is not dead. There are still benefits and disadvantages to both methods and the best way to succeed is to find a vehicle that covers both bases - and that's where we come in!

The Benefits of print advertising:

1. Print adverts last longer and will be seen often.
2. They will be seen by a large number of people and have the ability to hit a specific audience.
3. There is a more creative potential with print advertising.
4. There is a positive perception of newspaper advertising - it will encourage people to think the client is serious.

The Benefits of online advertising:

1. The advert content can be easily updated.
2. It's online 24/7, 12 months a year, all round the world.
3. A massive audience, with all ages now online.
4. Very quick response - you can be receiving candidates hours after posting your advert.

The Advertiser series of newspapers is distributed every week and the latest editions can be found on our website at

Solid – but far from dull

By Matt Kimberley

MERCEDES has realigned its naming structure to something more straightforward. If it starts with GL, then it's an SUV, while the suffix (C, E or S, mirroring the saloon range) defines the size.

With this shift comes a new GLE that's actually half the old ML, with the chassis, parts of the bodywork and the suspension carried over. But a new interior and lower emissions, plus a plug-in hybrid option, add new dimensions to consider.

Avoid pale colours and you can't lose. There's a slight awkwardness to the upper-rear bodywork between the C- and D-pillars that's hidden by dark blue, for example, and that's always a classy choice anyway. The GLE looks bulky without being flabby classy without being boring.

As for image, a new naming structure takes time to settle into consumer consciousness, but the GLE is one of the less ostentatious and in-your-face SUVs you could buy, although that means some of the standard wheel designs are a bit dull.

With five seats in place, there are 690 litres of boot to play with, which rises to more than 2,000 litres with the 60:40 split bench seat folded. There's a mountain of legroom for rear passengers, too, and only the longest-legged drivers will spoil that.

The cabin's cupholders aren't positioned in the most helpful place, but it's probably not a deal-breaker. What's of much greater import is the sense of size on the road, which some people will actively want and others just won't get on with. A test drive will tell you which category you're signed up to.

The entry-level four-cylinder 250d model is actually much better than you'd imagine, hauling the 2,075kg body along with little less real-world grunt than the 350d and its diesel V6. It's not the quietest by a long shot, and its stop-start action is coarser than the 350d's, but the 250d is a much cheaper option.

Body control is good through corners, but without the high-spec adaptive air suspension there's a noticeable jiggle to the ride quality that, in the UK, might be a bit sub-par.

The few larger bumps we could find on the Swiss ribbons of perfection that made up the test route suggest the GLE won't like potholes much – although we'd need to try it out thoroughly to be sure. If you can bring yourself to lift off the throttle (very) early when slowing for hazards, and to use momentum control to help smooth out short inclines, this GLE can actually record decent fuel economy. The figures experience some bad times if you jam your foot into the carpet, however. The nine-speed automatic gearbox is standard and shifts seamlessly and instantly, but can hunt around for the correct ratio too often.

The GLE has a lovely sense of solidity about it that makes you feel you're getting a quality product. That goes a long way to justifying the price, but at the same time the options list is long and tempting. List prices are rarely left unmolested on models like this, so prepare to budget for add-ons.

An obvious target buyer is the safety-minded parent who wants that height and size on the road, combined with a level of premium feel not found in cheaper cars. No doubt plenty will crop up in Kensington, for example, but the GLE does harbour a secret – and deeply impressive – off-road ability (with the £3,000 off-road package) that will appeal to people who tow heavy trailers on grass, gravel or mud.

KABOUL LEAVES

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

CLUB captain Younes Kaboul has left Tottenham Hotspur to join Premier League rivals Sunderland.

Despite being skipper at Spurs, 29-year-old Kaboul fell out of favour last season after losing his place in the side and did not feature in the Premier League following the 2-1 defeat at home to Stoke City in November.

Kaboul first joined Tottenham from French side Auxerre in 2007 and, after an 18-month spell at Portsmouth, he returned to White Hart Lane in 2010. He made 140 appearances for the club in total.

Meanwhile, Kyle Walker believes that he faces the most important season of his career following an injury-plagued 18 months.

The England international right-back was forced to miss the 2014 World Cup after picking up an abdominal problem which ruled him out for the best part of nine months.

He eventually returned to action last season and became a regular member of the side again – only for his campaign to come to a premature end when he sustained a foot injury against Burnley in early April.

But Walker has now regained full fitness and is hoping that he can finally put his injury problems behind him.

“Last season was difficult but it’s been great to get back out there and prove what I can do,” he said. “This is probably the biggest season of my career so far. Things have been up and down for me and now I need a consistent season.”

“Hopefully this will be the season I get back up there and show the lads here and everyone at Tottenham Hotspur what I can do again.

“It’s not been the easiest with the injuries but that’s all behind me now and I’m looking forward.

“I know that I have to hit the ground running. I’m working hard and, fingers crossed, this will be the season

Moving on: Defender Younes Kaboul has parted company with Tottenham Hotspur after deciding to sign for Premier League rivals Sunderland where everything falls back into place again.”

Walker had a run-out on Saturday when he featured in a 1-0 victory in a behind-closed-doors friendly against Reading – a game which saw summer signing Kevin Wimmer handed a chance to impress at the heart of Spurs’ defence.

And the 22-year-old Austrian international admitted that he felt the benefit of playing alongside Walker in the back four.

“I’m still a young player so I can learn a lot from people like Kyle and Danny Rose,” he said. “They are good players and they’re always very calm and focused.

“It’s great to have a chance to play alongside them. For my personal development it’s very good to train and play every week with guys like that. It helps me a lot.

“Reading were good opposition to play against and you can see that we are getting better and better every week. I think we are going in the right direction.”

Win sees North Middlesex climb to second

NORTH MIDDLESEX climbed up into second place in the top flight of the Middlesex County Cricket League on Saturday after edging to a two-wicket win at home to Finchley.

Jake Milton shone with the bat for the visitors as he held their top order together by making 60, but North Middlesex plugged away well with the ball and Finchley needed a quick-fire unbeaten 30 from Frahan Butt to get them up to a final total of 197-9. Ethan Bamber (4-39), Ed Bird (2-46) and Sam Webber (2-50) all bowled well for the hosts.

Both openers fell cheaply in North Middlesex’s reply and they found themselves in trouble at 45-4, but Webber (67 not out) and Evan Flowers (49) got them back on track by adding 75 for the fifth wicket.

The hosts then looked to be cruising to victory until two late wickets put the outcome back in doubt, but Webber held his nerve to guide them to 198-8.

Meanwhile, Hornsey pulled clear of the relegation zone in Division Two after securing a two-wicket win at home to Acton.

Hannadige Soysa (75) and Yasir Mehmood (54) added 101 for the third wicket as Acton posted 208 batting first, with Sean Solia taking 5-27.

Paul Weekes (58), Ed Wharton (46 not out) and James Bull (34) then shone with the bat as the hosts made it to 209-6 in reply to seal victory.

Elsewhere, Highgate remain top of Division Three despite only claiming a losing draw at Winchmore Hill.

Highgate made 250-9 batting first and had the hosts in trouble in reply until Mark Barrell (74 not out) and Sivan Seevaratnam (42 not out) joined forces to guide them to 220-6.

But 73 from Yasir Hashmi could not prevent basement side North London from losing by three wickets at Harrow as the hosts made it to 208-7 in reply to their 207 all out.

North Middlesex go to Southgate on Saturday, while Hornsey entertain Brentham, Highgate host Harrow Town and North London are at South Hampstead.

Athletes miss out on promotion

ENFIELD AND HARINGEY Athletic Club narrowly missed out on securing promotion from Southern Premier Division Two of the lower age group of the United Kingdom Youth Development League after finishing third in the final meeting of the season at the Thames Valley Athletics Centre on Saturday.

The club went into the match lying second in the table – level on points with both Windsor, Slough, Eton and Hounslow and Crawley – but it was Windsor who just pipped them to the promotion spot after narrowly claiming second place on the day.

Despite the disappointing final outcome, there were still numerous fine performances from Enfield and Haringey’s athletes, with Alex Truscott winning the boys’ under-15 A-string 100metres (11.4seconds).

Fraser Rafique triumphed in the boys’ under-13 B-string javelin (27.69m), while there were wins at girls’ under-13 level from Precious Adu in the B-string 75m (10.4secs) and Emily Knight in the B-string long jump (4.07m).

But it was the girls’ under-15 team who enjoyed the most success as there were double wins in the 75m hurdles from Amber Hornbuckle in the A-string and Marissa Sims in the B-string (both 11.4secs), the javelin from Mariam Matovu in the A-string (34.94m) and Simona Veselinova in the B-string (33.34m) and the pole vault from Amy Beauchamp in the A-string (2.70m) and Jessica Smith in the B-string (2.20m).

There were further victories in this age group from Melieka Daley in the A-string 200m (25.9secs) and Elise Modeste in the B-string long jump (4.86m).
